IMPORTANT BELGIAN CITY CAPTURED BY FRENCH AFTER

CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

Latest Reports Claim That Allies Are Meeting with Excellent Success in Their New Attack.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Oct. 15.—Roulers has been taken by the allies. This city which before the war numbered 25,000 inhabitants is the first important Belgian town from which the Germans have been driven.

This morning on the anniversary of the battle of Jemal which was fought October 14, 1806, the battle flamed up along the Flanders front and the first days' progress gives reason for high hopes.

Open Attack
Under the command of King Albert of Belgium, British, Belgian and French armies attacked at 5 o'clock. There was no artillery preparation, but the troops advanced under a cover of creeping curtain of fire of extreme power. The weather turned fine and the troops progressed in the most satisfactory way. Machine guns after another were forced to surrender one after another. At 10 o'clock tonight the advance amounted to four miles in the direction of Courtrai for the British; four miles toward Thiel for the French; and one-half mile in the direction of Thorout for the Belgians.

10,000 Prisoners
To the French in the center of the line fell the honor of capturing the city of Roulers and the plateau covering it. Nearly 10,000 prisoners have already been counted and a large amount of material and many guns have been captured.

Rush Reserves
German reserves which attempted to hurry up to the front line did not escape the keen eyes of the allied aviators and gunners. One troop train was cut in two by shells. When the occupant of the cars jumped out they were met and scattered by machine gun fire by the allied aviators.

French Advance
Paris.—French troops have made an important advance toward the town of Bethel and captured the town of Namptun.

In the Argonne the French have reached the Alsace west of Grandprey and captured the villages of Olise and Tormes. Nearly 10,000 prisoners were taken in this region.

South of Espere the French also have made a marked advance. The town of Eperle and the villages of Monceau le Vast have been taken.

Resistance Broken
With the British Army in Belgium, heavy resistance in Flanders which at first kept the allied progress very slow is reported to have been broken.

After the British, French and Belgian advance today there were indications that the enemy was withdrawing the remainder of his army from the coast of Belgium. Most significant of all the features of the battle was the fact the German coast batteries reacted heavily against the allied advance, but north of the city this was very slight, indicating the German guns had been withdrawn or were being taken back by the enemy.

Overcome Rear Guards
The German rear guards were overcome and further north the enemy resistance gradually grew lighter as the allied progress advanced. Among the prisoners was a complete regimental staff and a battalion commander. The enemy has begun blowing up material which he could not remove and which is being applied to the towns that they are abandoning. There have been four explosions near Bierst.

Matteries Active
The fact that the coast batteries are not firing has given rise to the rumor that the British naval forces are operating off the coast. One report even went so far as to say that the British fleet was bound to be evacuated by the enemy has been reported by British monitors. There is no confirmation of these rumors. On the contrary, the British fleet is active.

Strong Opposition
Washington.—American troops at Verdun are operating against strong opposition. The allied advance toward the towns of Cunel and Romagny. General Pershing reported today, under date of yesterday.

Progress Satisfactory
With American troops at Verdun, the progress of the Americans early reports say was satisfactory today. The Germans apparently were ready to accept the ground in the town of Verdun yesterday. The enemy artillery was being used freely to hold the Americans but the Yankee gunners were doing much to break down the German positions.

Yanking Men
London.—Belgian troops are on the verge of taking the town of Lillie and the town of Lillie. The allies are also taking the town of Lillie. The allies are also taking the town of Lillie.

New Notches.
With American army Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 15.—From east of the Meuse to the vicinity of Verdun, American forces chopped a series of fresh notches in the German line today. They kept up their swinging blows at the enemy front line this morning until late this afternoon, while the Germans resisted with great determination. Their decision to hold until the last portion of the line before the Americans may open the way to swift disaster.

Although the action extended to the eastward back of the Meuse the most severe fighting took place about Romagny and to the westward where the enemy is striving to maintain in that section of the front line. The battle has been in and over the wire entanglements before this dawn. The German line was excellent and the American line was excellent. The present line of resistance is laid. Hargling on the wire tonight are German machine guns. The evidence that another German division has been brought up to meet the steady pressure of the Americans.

There was some artillery preparation for the attack but it was much heavier than that offered by the Germans in defense along their wire defenses until late in the day when there was a heavy fall of shells in the volume of fire. At that time there was a movement of artillery toward the rear of the German position.

Disabling action was reported. The artillery counter action was reported. The battle has been in and over the wire entanglements before this dawn. The German line was excellent and the American line was excellent. The present line of resistance is laid. Hargling on the wire tonight are German machine guns. The evidence that another German division has been brought up to meet the steady pressure of the Americans.

Heavy clouds and rain prevented airmen from giving material assistance during the battle. In spite of the gray, rain-falling clouds did not prevent the line from being contributed somewhat to the success of the advance, not withstanding the low visibility. Flying low above the German line the allied bombers dropped gas clouds which hung close to the ground. The Americans were not seriously hampered in the general operation.

Discipline and experience was taught them the value of gas masks.

Flying Light Back
The greater part of the resistance east of the Meuse was from machine guns and heavy artillery. The reinforced German line the Americans straightened their line between the Chivry to the Magenta farm. To the east of Romagny the Germans have fortified one of their machine gun positions in such a manner that it was necessary to blast it away with the big guns. The Germans have been opening fire on the machine guns through the banks of the river and the line of the machine guns were silenced by direct hits.

In the Woods
Between Romagny and Landray and St. Georges a hill which was covered with wood and the fighting is extremely fierce along its slope to which were joined the barb wire defenses that stretches from Landray to St. Georges, a mile and a half to the west. These positions were deluged with American shells but stubbornly defended by the Germans who rolled back the front clouds of gas and curtains of high explosives and shrapnel shells.

Along the line from St. Junive to St. Georges more rapid progress was made by the allied operations. The Germans were confined to the main defense line along the center of the line. During the battle the Germans directed harassing fire on numerous points along the back of the allied line.

Tanks Active
With American army northwest of Verdun.—Tanks were brought into action by the Americans today to break a way through the enemy wire entanglements west of Romagny.

WILSON FIRM IN STAND ON FINAL PEACE

FINAL ANSWER TO OVERTURES OF GERMAN GOVERNMENT IT IS THOUGHT WILL END THE PRESENT NEGOTIATIONS

HUNS MUST SURRENDER

This Is Practically What The President
And Allies Will Demand In The Final Settlement of the Question.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 15.—President Wilson's reply to the German ending talk of an armistice until the Germans are ready to surrender and finally closing the door to peace negotiation with kaiserism was on the cable today if it has not already arrived at Bern. Only a few hours should be required for its delivery at Berlin through the Swiss foreign office.

Washington has undergone a relaxation of tension since yesterday and even those who had no fear that the president's diplomacy would bring a relaxation of military effort or compromise with a faithless enemy, wear and tear with relief.

Everywhere the feeling is apparent that the atmosphere is clearer than before Prince Maximilian came forward with his peace drive, that the purposes of the United States and the allies are more than ever clearly stated and the power in Berlin and the German people now must see the futility of further attempt to avert the defeat in sight by compromise.

Are Not Considered
So far the President has dealt only with the proposed German government, leaving unanswered the pleas for peace from Austria-Hungary and Turkey. There is no indication from him until the dominant factor in the central alliance makes another move; unless one or both in the mean time should seek to surrender without regard to the course or fate of the power that hitherto has governed their action. Cut off by the defection of Bulgaria and cowed by the victorious British armies, Turkey already virtually is out of the war and a separate appeal from the reorganized government at Constantinople is expected to follow.

It is conceded that one guess is as good as another, so there is no doubt as to what will happen ultimately.

With the American and allied armies advancing steadily toward the German border. It is believed the only question is how far the march go before the people of the German state arises to stop the invasion by meeting the condition about which the world will deal with them.

From cities and rural communications north, south, east and west came telegrams before noon saying both Liberty loan workers and citizens interest in the campaign for ending the President's note eliminating possibility of an immediate armistice. With only five days of the campaign left about three billion dollars to be raised. All indications report reveal assurance the nation would not fail in its task.

WILSON'S REPLY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The text of President Wilson's reply to the German reply, received through the Swiss legation on Monday, is contained in the following communication, which Secretary of State Lansing, late Monday afternoon, handed to the Swiss charge d'affaires:

"Sir.—In reply to the communication of the German government, dated the 12th inst., which you handed me today, I have the honor to request you to transmit the following answer:

"The unqualified acceptance by the present German government and by a large majority of the reichstag of the terms laid down by the president of the United States of America in his address to the congress of the United States on the eighth of January, 1918, and in his subsequent addresses, justifies the president in making a frank and direct statement of his decision with regard to the communications of the German government of the eighth and twelfth of October, 1918.

"It must be clearly understood that the process of evacuation and the conditions of an armistice are matters which must be left to the judgment and advice of the military advisers of the government of the United States and the allied governments, and the president feels it his duty to say that no arrangement can be accepted by the government of the United States which does not provide absolutely satisfactory safeguards and guarantees of the maintenance of the present military supremacy of the armies of the United States and the allies in the field.

"He feels confident that he can safely assume that this will also be the judgment and decision of the allied governments.

"The president feels that it is also his duty to add that neither the government of the United States nor he is quite sure, the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, will consent to consider an armistice so long as the armed forces of Germany continue the illegal and inhuman practices which they still persist in.

ONE PERSON KILLED BY BIG EXPLOSION

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 15.—One life was lost in an explosion of T. N. T. at the plant of the British Explosives corporation near Trenton, Ont., 250 miles from here, last night. The number of injuries and the extent of the damage was slight, because for the night shift of 2,500 had arrived following the first blast, a series of rumbling crashes laid low most of the structures which are less than a year old.

"At the very time that the German government approaches the government of the United States with proposals of peace its submarines are engaged in sinking passenger ships at sea, and not the ships alone, but the very boats in which their passengers and crews seek to make their way to safety and in their present enforced withdrawal from Flanders and France the German armies are pursuing a course of wanton destruction which has always been regarded as in direct violation of the rules and practices of civilized warfare. Cities and villages, if not destroyed, are being stripped of all they contain not only, but often of their very inhabitants.

"The nations associated against Germany can not be expected to agree to a cessation of arms while acts of inhumanity, spoliation and desolation are being continued, which they justly look upon with horror and with burning hearts.

"It is necessary, also, in order that there may be no possibility of misunderstanding, that the president should very solemnly call the attention of the government of Germany to the language and intent of one of the terms of peace which the German government has now accepted. It is contained in the address of the president, delivered at Mount Vernon on the fourth of July last.

"It is as follows: 'The destruction of any arbitrary power anywhere that can separately disturb the peace of the world or, if it can not be presently destroyed, at least its reduction to virtual impotency.'

"The power which has hitherto controlled the German nation is of the sort here described. It is within the choice of the German nation to alter it. The president's words just quoted naturally constitute a condition precedent to peace, if peace is to come by the action of the German people themselves. The president feels bound to say that the whole process of peace, as it is being conducted, depends upon the judgment, and the satisfactory character of the guarantees which can be given in this fundamental matter. It is indispensable that the governments associated against Germany should know beyond a peradventure with whom they are dealing.

"The president will make a separate reply to the royal and imperial government of Austria-Hungary.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurance of my high consideration.

(Signed) ROBERT LANSING.
Mr. Frederick Oederlin, Charge d'affaires, German Legation, Washington, D. C.

Now For Peace.
Washington, Oct. 15.—The big task confronting us now is to complete winning the war.

That was official Washington's address today. The nervousness of yesterday, when the nation waited for President Wilson to speak, had disappeared today. The war was to go on. On that point officials were positive. The only question was whether the military party would control there. And the military party had no meeting today. The German atrocities as soon as the text of President Wilson's decision reaches Berlin. They expect an immediate escalation of submarine warfare on the largest scale possible to the German admiralty. They expect even treatment of occupied territory that has been reported in the past. This is the plan here today that such action will be taken to bring the German military machine to a halt.

Endorse President
From every section today came endorsement of the President's position. His declaration that the military experts of the United States and its allies will have their say when any armistice is arranged, means much to the men who are fighting the war. It means that when Germany does really apply for peace she will be compelled to furnish guarantees that will completely protect the victorious allied troops. According to reports that have reached here the supreme places of public opinion will be closed indefinitely today under order of the state health department, to fight the influenza-pneumonia epidemic. The order is state wide and also affects day schools. It has not adequate medical supervision.

In the past 48 hours the toll taken from Chicago by the double epidemic is 418 lives. It is because these figures indicate a slight increase in the diseases that the drastic order has been put into effect.

They are Dorothy Edwards, nineteen years old, 725 Michigan avenue; Evanston; Margaret Greer, daughter of Mrs. Howard Greer, 828 Simpson street; and Lillian Stephenson, 520 Aldine avenue, Chicago.

Transport Sunk at Dock in New York Early This Morning

Hoboken, N. J., Oct. 15.—The American transport America sank at her pier here this morning. She was reported to have troops on board and although details were withheld by the authorities, it was reported that between thirty and forty of the crew were drowned in the room.

All troops were reported to have been taken off safely. The cause of the sinking was unknown, but it was said the ship was undergoing interior repairs that may have been a weak point in her hull.

Still in Berths.
The sinking occurred at five in the morning when most of the troops were still in their berths. In their hurried escape most of them had no clothes on. The Red Cross was called on for assistance and soon trucks filled with blankets, clothing and food arrived at the pier for distribution among the shivering soldiers. The transport was formerly the big Hamburg American liner, registered 6622 tons gross. She was taken over here when the U. S. entered the war. The vessel was 693 feet long and 45 feet wide. In 1905 with a navy crew on board. The ship has been in the service of the army as troop transport.

The sinking of the America makes the second transport thus put out of commission in New York harbor since the war. On April 25, last the liner St. Paul sank while being warped into her pier. Water poured into an open coal port and she turned over. The hull was not raised until about a week ago.

All Are Saved.
Washington.—An official report to the navy department says a muster of the ship was taken to have been on the America. She was reported to have been in the harbor since the sinking. Steps are already under way for raising the ship.

Official with that which he will send to Vienna. Officials here believe the matter what happens elsewhere the unconditional surrender of Turkey is a matter only of a very brief time. It is believed that Germany has been unable to gain control of the front line. The Constantinople authorities are expected to follow Bulgaria's lead in the matter and save what they can from the wreckage of their national war hopes.

Diplomatic officials here today said that they believed the president's action in again telling the Germans that one of the great conditions toward peace was a change in the German government, will precipitate a new political crisis in Germany. They say that this statement can be depended on to stiffen the attitude of the German Socialists. The very fact that the president has found it necessary to ask the Socialists to take a real part in the government indicates that it was very necessary to placate them to support for the latest peace move. They say that the Socialists believe that the president's statement will renew their demands that the government actually be made responsible to the people. It is necessary to be able to gain this point is a matter of serious doubt here at present. But ultimately they will, as the German people are bound to suffer serious reverses in the field.

Entente Officials Were Extremely Graded.
Entente officials were extremely gratified today over the official announcement made by the president with the uttering of President Wilson's decision, that there will be no armistice until the rushing of troops and war materials to the front line is the sort of language that the Germans can understand, they say. And they realize that the promises of the president that it will mean at least four million men in France by June 1, is to be kept, it will bring about conditions that must eventually lead to complete unconditional surrender.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Duluth, Minn., Oct. 15.—Simple services were read today over scores of bodies and the last rites were performed for many who died in the flames which swept over northeast Minnesota Saturday and Sunday. The services were private or as nearly so as could be. Adjutant General Rhinow has issued orders that no funeral should be public, but the collective nature of many services today brought together relatives and friends of many families. Only the bodies of those identified were burned. At Moose Lake last night a detail of men was engaged in digging graves under order of those in charge of the relief work there.

One Large Grave.
One large grave was made which late today received the bodies of 20 persons who perished in a root house fire at Moose Lake. The coffin contained all that remained of the four members of one Polish family. There was no one to weep as the casket was lowered into the ground.

Every Member Dead.
Every member of the family had been burned to death when running from their home and they had no relatives in this country. The body was pushed rapidly during the day. Before the noon hour 25 additional bodies had been brought to Moose Lake from the victims. Relief workers declared that the further they penetrated the interior of the burned waste the more conservative bodies they found. Some of the bodies were brought to Duluth in that section. Early today 30 bodies were brought into Carlton, among them 18 which were found yesterday in the ruins of a school building. A relief train was working into Duluth this morning and systematically organized rescue work will begin there at once. Antomha has reported the recovery of bodies brought here, bringing the total to 600 known dead.

SCRUB SIRS BEING ELIMINATED RAPIDLY

The report of the Department of Agriculture, Division of Horse Breeding, for 1918, just published, shows that mongrel or scrub stallions are fast becoming unpopular in Wisconsin. This fact is due to the enforcement of which was transferred to the Department of Agriculture, from the Office of the Commissioner of the University of Wisconsin, July 1, 1917. This law requires each public service station to be enrolled (licensed) and the license, awarded to the owner, to be a "pure bred," "grade" or "mongrel of scrub" according to its true breeding and every poster or bill used to advertise a stallion must show an exact copy of the license and the designating title of the animal printed in large type before the first mention of its name. In this way the public is kept advised of the true breeding of the sire he proposes patronizing and more than ever before is now declining to use such mongrel sires.

In 1917 673 scrub stallions were in service in Wisconsin. In 1918 the number was 269 and in 1919, 213. During 1918, 35 new scrub stallions were enrolled compared with 48 in 1917. Such sires do not deserve to receive a license for public service and many breeders are of the opinion that the privilege should be annulled by the legislature.

The following counties have eliminated their scrub sires: Crawford, Eau Claire, Forest, Lafayette, Milwaukee, Racine, Rock, Waubesa, and Waushara. Marathon and Shawano still lead in ownership of scrub stallions with 14 and 16 head respectively. While Dunn, Stearns and Vilas counties come next with 7 head each.

ANNUAL REPORT OF DIVISION OF HORSE BREEDING

Bulletin No. 16 of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, presenting the annual report of the Division of Horse Breeding for 1918, and a directory of licensed stallions, shows among other facts of interest that grade stallions gradually are being reduced in numbers. In 1917 there were 617 grade stallions, 151 of which were dropped to 61, a reduction of 156 head. In 1917 the total number of grade and scrub stallions was 1975 and in 1918, 874. Grade and scrub stallions can only be bred and should be pure bred sires.

Trempealeau county still uses 28 grade stallions. Marathon 24, Barron 23, Rock 22 and Chippewa and Vernon 20 each. In 1907, Trempealeau county had 99 grade and scrub sires and in 1918, 82; Marathon in 1907, 24 and in 1918, 28; Shawano 1907, 33 and in 1918, 36. In 1907, 27 grade and scrub stallions were in use in Grant county, now the number is 17.

These figures speak for themselves and should be a warning to breeders. It is to be hoped that these undesirable sires will be wholly eliminated in the near future.

ARRESTED FOR DRIVING CAR WHILE DRUNK

John Bixel of Town of Center Taken Before Judge Maxfield To Answer Charge of Driving Car While Drunk.

John Bixel, a butter maker residing in the town of Center was brought before Judge Maxfield this morning to answer a charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

On Saturday evening while returning home Bixel crashed into a car owned and operated by James Robery a young farmer living west of the city. Mr. Robery had left the road and pulled into the ditch to allow Bixel to pass, but Bixel found the road was not large enough and he also ran in the ditch crashing into the car owned by Mr. Robery.

Bixel appeared before Judge Maxfield this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. His case was set for hearing on October 25th at ten o'clock and he was held under $500 bail.

DIRECTOR GENERAL OF SHIPPING BUYS BONDS

New York, Oct. 14.—Cheered by officials of the shipping board, diplomatic representatives of the twenty-two allied nations and several hundred citizens who had just subscribed $52,000,000 in Liberty Bonds at an "auction" conducted by Charles M. Schwab, director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the fabricated cargo vessels Allies and Consort were launched today.

Mr. Schwab solicited $22,000,000 with which to build twenty-two 11,000-ton vessels. Within twenty-two minutes this sum had been oversubscribed, and within about an hour the original amount asked for had been exceeded. The difference between the $22,000,000 requested and the $52,000,000 promised will be devoted to government needs other than shipbuilding.

Mr. Schwab subscribed to $1,250,000 worth of bonds, and Mrs. Schwab bought $250,000 more.

Chairman Hiley of the shipping board in an address previous to the launching, "No one can count upon its being won until the last battle has been fought."

ONLY TWO DRUNKS ON DECK TODAY

Godfried Engelberger when arraigned before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court evidently knew of the reputation which Liberty Bonds had because he no sooner faced the judge than he started pointing to his Liberty bond pin.

Engelberger was arrested last evening on North Terrace street after he wandered into the wrong house in his attempt to get home. He claimed he was born in Switzerland, but was a citizen of the United States. He pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and was assessed ten dollars and costs or fifteen days.

Michael McVay entered a plea of guilty to the charge of drunkenness and was fined ten dollars and costs or fifteen days.

RACINE COMPANY IS DENIED REVALUATION

Madison, Oct. 15.—That the cost of reproducing the plant of the Racine Water company has increased several hundred thousand dollars since the railroad commission's valuation of the plant at $1,015,000 on April 11, 1917, but that the valuation of the plant has not increased is the substance of an opinion given by the commission today in denying the application of the company for a revaluation. Upon application of the city of Racine the railroad commission on April 11, 1917, fixed the price at which the city could purchase the plant at $1,015,000. The company immediately appealed from the valuation of the commission and by a majority vote prevented the city from issuing and selling the bonds to make payment for the plant.

CAN YOU HELP

Wathena, Kansas, Oct. 8, 1918.

Secretary of the Red Cross, Janesville, Wis.

My son, a sailor, on the way from Great Lakes to training camp in Washington, lost a little book out of the train window near the depot in your town, or the town west of you. I thought if you would mention it in your next Red Cross meeting, the word might get to the party who found it. He valued it very much.

If you can help find this little book for him, he and I will be very much obliged to you. I know our Red Cross here would be very glad to do anything like this for one of the "boys in blue" and believe the Red Cross everywhere have the same feeling.

Very truly,
Mrs. C. E. Case.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IS PROVING A SUCCESS

Daylight saving from March 31 to October 27, 1918, was established by congress in March, 1918, as an effective method of conserving energy, and the health and the mineral resources of the nation. All clocks in the country were moved forward one hour, at 2 a. m., March 31, 1918. The adoption of the daylight saving plan by the United States is attributable to its successful operation in Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Portugal, Australia, and Iceland.

It was estimated that Great Britain in which the plan is in force only during four and one-half months last year, saved 1,000,000 tons of coal, and 11,600 tons of fuel oil. In France, where the plan was in operation only three and one-half months, the saving was approximately 250,000 tons.

Estimates of the saving in coal that will be effected in 1918 in the United States are as follows: The daylight saving plan varies from 1,000,000 tons to 1,500,000 tons.

The amount of coal used in this country during the year 1917 was 130,000,000 tons. Light is insignificant, however, when compared with the amount consumed during other seasons.

Great Britain and northern European countries have restricted the use of the daylight saving plan to summer because the hours of daylight during the remainder of the year are too short to render the plan impracticable.

Practically all of Europe lies north of the average latitude of the United States, and the northern hemisphere of this country is farther south than the greater portion of Europe. In every portion of the United States there are much more than eight hours of daylight at any one time of the year. Daylight saving, therefore, would be practicable continuously in this country, and the saving effected would be very much greater in the winter than in the summer.

Two changes of time each year will subject the railroads, and every other common carrier, to an inconvenient hour change, which would be obviated by the permanent adoption of the present standard of time.

HAS THREE SONS IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

Mr. and Mrs. William Conway of the town of LaPrairie have three sons with the colors. James, in the 129th Ambulance corps, somewhere in France. Robert, Sergeant Major of the 32nd Machine Gun Battalion, of the 1st Division, and Hugh, in the 1st Cavalry Division and Hugh, who was taken into the service today and sent to the vocational school at the University of Wisconsin, from the second district.

The last to enter the service was a member of Company G, 8th Inf. of this city and his place in the company was taken by a still younger brother, who is also preparing to enter the service when the time comes and he is needed. There is an older brother also a member of Company G who also waits the call, so it is no wonder that the war is over there will be five Conways in the service.

PASTOR STARTS CAMPAIGN TO KEEP FOREIGN LABOR HERE WHEN PEACE COMES

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS]

Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—A nation-wide movement which has for its object the retention of foreign labor in this country after the war has been launched here by Rev. A. A. Mazza, pastor of St. Michael's church at Braddock. The clergyman pointed out that after the war from 35 to 40 per cent of the foreign laboring classes may seek to return to European countries unless some method is devised to keep them here. He says that laws have been passed by Germany and Austria-Hungary confiscating the properties of all subjects in other countries who do not return home.

A plan for industrial concerns to finance the purchase of homes for laborers has been suggested. Moving pictures are to be shown contrasting life in their home countries with conditions in the United States. It is also planned to have the laborers pledge not to return to their homes for at least three years after the war. Buttons will be given those who so pledge.

YALE WILL DROP ALL INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORTS

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 15.—Yale has made its position clear on war-time sports. No intercollegiate football games will be played and athletic contests among the Yale men will be held on Saturday afternoons, this being the only free time according to Prof. Robert M. Corwin chairman of the board of control of the Yale Athletic association.

"Intercollegiate games as practiced in the past are impossible, but inter-unit impromptu contests may be promoted," said Prof. Corwin.

He pointed out the importance of discarding everything non-essential for those things which are in line of war training, and expressed his belief in the necessity for athletes who have been demonstrated at training camps as providing recreation in its most healthful form.

"UNCONDITIONAL"

There is no time for anything but an unconditional surrender. This nation is not playing with foreign politics. It is making it. Let Germany turn over its navy to the United States as a security. They must business, let Germany take its troops out of all territory it now holds, and then we may talk of an armistice. Until then the dead women and children of Belgium, of Poland, of Serbia, of northern France, will rise up in their graves and curse us as laggards and slackers.

We sent our troops to Europe to avenge a wrong done the world—not individuals. We have sent our millions of soldiers to teach a savage nation that God still lives upon this globe and that we—a Christian nation—worship him, and demand, as did our ancestors, that the Christian, the Christian nations do likewise. To no treaty with a nation that has no respect for a written and sworn treaty of years' standing than they do "mere scraps of paper," is an absurdity to which we can not condense.

"Unconditional surrender" is the only way. "Kaiser" we can beat. When William II. stood before the gates of Tannenberg in 1914 with his Green Mountain boys and demanded the surrender of the fortress with all its supplies, he said: "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress," and as in biblical days, the doors of the fortress opened.

Again this nation ends, "In the name of the Great American people and the world at large, an unconditional surrender." Nothing else will satisfy us. We who have not been able to go to war, but forced to stay at home. Those who have gone to war and are on the firing lines or in training camps. In the words of P. S. Grant: "An Unconditional Surrender."

Taft's Slogan.

"The War Must Not Only Be Won, But Stay Won."
This is William H. Taft's new war slogan. It puts out a statement of the ex-president issued in New York as his contribution to the loan drive on Liberty day. The whole statement follows:

"The overwhelming success of the fourth Liberty loan must be the answer of the American people to Germany's bid for peace. Through the loan, every man, woman and child can help swell the great chorus of 'No!'"

"The six billions we pay for these bonds will do more than buy ships and munitions. They will smother any lingering doubts the enemy may have about our determination to fight until the whole system of military autocracy crumbles."

"Liberty bonds are an investment in the future of humanity. The returns are not to be measured by any profit and a quarter per cent. Every dollar we spend to beat Germany is a dollar invested in the safety and happiness of our children and their children for countless generations."

"The loan, therefore, should make its strongest appeal to those who see at the end of this war not only victory, but what victory means. The war must not only be won, but stay won. The fourth Liberty loan is a part of the price we are paying for a permanent League of Free Nations, formed to bring safety and justice to the whole world."

"Those who already have bought bonds to help win the war should buy another to help keep it won. An undecided victory, an inconclusive peace will mean that our blood and treasure have been poured out in vain."

"The League to Enforce Peace, makes public a letter from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, addressed to Mr. Taft, as president of the League, expressing appreciation of the work done for former loans by the officers and members of the League organization and urging renewed efforts in the present campaign. The appeal says:

"As this campaign will be shorter by a week than the previous one, it behooves all of us to see that every ounce of the win-the-war spirit now so manifest everywhere is utilized. To this end it is hoped organizations of every character in the United States, as such, will respond as patriotically as they did in the previous loan campaigns."

"The League to Enforce Peace, of which you are president, through its individual members, as well as a unit, rendered splendid service in the three previous loans. May the country count upon the League's doing as well in the coming campaign."

"And you, personally, Mr. Taft, I trust, will find time from your many duties to help. I shall deeply appreciate your co-operation."

QUIETLY WORKING.

With a state election but a few weeks off, there is an unusual lack of interest on the part of the average citizen. Of course the Liberty Loan campaign and the war and a hundred other factors are at work to divert the attention of the public, but we may expect some fireworks shortly unless plans of the campaign managers of the various candidates have gone stale under training.

These men who live for the excitement of political campaigns and plan and scheme cleverly for this or that advantage for their special favorite are not to be cheated out of their pleasure simply because the public had rather read of a great military victory than listen to a dry, prosy address by some aspirant for office.

The candidates themselves are quietly working and as a result before the November election day arrives we may expect to learn that even in war days men are elected to office and the reason why they should be chosen over some other candidate and the why and wherefore for this election. In fact, we will know who are in politics shortly.

FOREST FIRES.

The awful loss of life in the north woods from the forest fires, the destruction of hundreds of homes, the desolation, the devastation, all bring home to us the actual horrors that must exist in Europe as the great Hun hordes retreat sullenly through the conquered lands they have helped to ruin during the past four years of occupation. The sympathy of the state of Wisconsin goes out to these homeless sufferers of the north woods, and whether these fires were of incendiary or from natural causes, an investigation should be made to prevent any recurrence in years to come or in other localities again this year.

Chicago theatres have been closed owing to the "flu." If this disease is not soon checked there will be no one left to go anywhere, even if everything was run wide open.

This additional vacation period for the school boys and girls is advantageous to the household where fall house-cleaning is in progress.

The Janesville "Y" has proved its value in these war days and members are making it proud of the record they are making.

The Janesville district is going over the top if you do your duty and buy all the bonds you can.

The real trouble with the alliance of the Central Powers is that none of them can trust the other.

Wilson has signified he does not intend to have this war end until it can be ended right.

Casualty lists continue to arrive. Buy more Liberty bonds to prevent this.

GEO. CHANEY HOLDS 'KNOCKOUT RECORD'

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—It was eight years ago, Oct. 10, 1910 that George Chaney defeated Battling Kelly in six rounds at Baltimore.

Chaney's active career in the ring. The hard hitting Baltimore bantam then knocked out six lads in succession but he got a taste of his own medicine the following April when Young Britt put him to sleep. In June of 1911 he fought a twenty-round draw with Kid Williams and then began another long string of knockouts, earning for him the title of the "Knockout King," which he emblazoned upon his many bosom.

Chaney's batting average of knockouts is a high one. Of any boxer's scrapers, about 60 per cent of his contests having been won by the administration of the sopping punch to his victims. In later tackling Johnny Kilbane the little Baltimorean did off considerably more than he could chew and again experienced the feeling of defeat. Chaney often declared that it doesn't hurt to be rocked to sleep by an opponent's gloved fist, but it was only natural that a fellow who dealt so extensively in knockouts should defend his own line of goods.

WHAT, SHALL, THEY READ ABOUT US
We are reading of them every day. And we're proud of the news that comes in. They're there in the thick of the fray. And they're full of the spirit to win. They're doing the best that they can. With never a whimper or fuss. Are we with them today, man to man? What is it they read about us?

They're getting the papers, out there. In dangerous places and queer. They learn if we're doing as share. They know what is going on here. As we sit here and read about them. And proudly their courage discuss. They praise us or loudly condemn. Whenever they read about us. We know that they're looking the Hun. We know they are loyal and true. We've read of the deeds they have done. They rush for the papers from home. To find if we're minus or plus. The news of our failures shall round. Our soldiers shall read about us.

Shall they come from the heat of the fight. To read that we've struck for more pay? Shall they find by candle's dull light. We're the cause of the battle's delay? Shall they fight down the paper and say. And liken us all of the Russ. That holds nothing but self-interest dear? What is it they'll read about us?

They are giving us glories to read. They are writing proud stories to tell. Are we standing by them in their needs? Are we serving our soldiers as well? Our conduct we never can hide. It is something in France they discuss.

And it's ours every day to decide. The news they shall read about us.

EL PASO AUTHORITIES ARREST MEXICANS FOR "CAPITALIZING" DRAFT

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 15.—Raids by city and county authorities upon suspected places in the southern part of town resulted in the arrest of several Mexicans of the better classes who are charged with capitalizing the draft.

Several places were found in which schedules of prices for the filling out and acknowledgment of questionnaires were tacked on the walls, and the operators are said to have gleaned as much as $200 a day by charging illiterate and ignorant Mexican exorbitant sums for filling out their questionnaires. The common price was $5 for filling out the entire document and a dollar for the acknowledgment. In some cases $5 extra was required where the registrant wished to file an exemption claim. In such cases a new affidavit, worthless to the registrant, was made and attached to the questionnaire. It was through this means that the authorities were apprised of the existence of the traffic.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Oct. 14.—The past week has been ideal for the curing of tobacco. The weather has been so on hand during next month the grower will be able to take his crop down and strip it for delivery. M. H. Ford was able to strip a small amount of his crop during the week. The weather has been so on hand during next month the grower will be able to take his crop down and strip it for delivery.

Four deaths are reported this morning. Three of them were due to one from spinal meningitis. The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson, Miss Martha Pyre who has made her home with the Koehn family and Mrs. Wm. Pike of Indian Ford all died of pneumonia. Ralph Pike died of spinal meningitis making two deaths in the Pike family. The doctors now feel that they have the situation well in hand and it is hoped that there will be a lot up in the deaths from this epidemic.

Word comes from France of the safe arrival over seas of Max Voight, Fred Schaeffer and Oscar Christerson. These boys left Edgerton in July for Camp Grant and have made a quick trip.

Mrs. Washburn of Racine is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ash. Miss Mary Morrissey of Racine is a guest at the home of her parents in the city.

The Liberty loan as reported at the meeting of the campaign held at the First National Bank on Sunday showed that this district has sold bonds to the amount of $222,000. The east half of Porter and part of the town of Waukegan are the only places where the full reports are in that Edgerton and its district will be able to report over the top. In the meantime the captains are busy soliciting the word comes from Montana that A. S. Warner is ill with pneumonia and that his chances for recovery are slight.

The following letter from Harold Amundson who is now located at a hospital in Pennsylvania, will be of interest to Edgerton readers as he has served his country with the local platoon.

Word was received in Edgerton this afternoon of the death of Miss Ethel Walker, who died in Sparta of pneumonia. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the N. C. Nelson home. Interment will be made in the Edgerton cemetery.

MILLION MARK REACHED IN LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

JANESVILLE TOTAL IN FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN REACHES $1,000,000. INTENSIVE DRIVE CLOSING ON THURSDAY

PAYMENT NECESSARY

Many Applications At Headquarters Without Initial Payment. Payments Must Be Made Before Thursday

Janesville's share, $1,100,000. Campaign opened September 28. Intensive drive began in Janesville, October 8. Campaign closes Thursday. Headquarters open at 5 North Main street. Rock County, 575; Bell, 1220. Office open from 8:00 a. m. until 10:00 p. m. If each will assume a full share Janesville will over-subscribe. Thus far subscribed, $1,000,000.

Peace talk and German promises of an early and lasting peace have failed to diminish the efforts of the people of Janesville and with a steady upward climb, the goal of $1,100,000 in the Fourth Liberty Loan is gradually being reached. The total up to a late hour this afternoon was $1,000,000, leaving the small amount of 100,000 to be raised by tomorrow evening.

Charles Mueggen and R. E. Wisner, members of the executive committee, in discussing the campaign this morning, stated that they were highly gratified with the progress and were sure that Janesville would reach her quota and over-subscribe it before Thursday evening.

There still remains a few applications at Liberty Loan headquarters which were not accompanied by the initial payment of ten per cent. The Wisner stated this morning that the initial payment on the applications must be made before Thursday evening at six o'clock and urges that all people who have applications at the headquarters without the initial payment to come to the office sometime before Thursday evening, and make the first payment. These applications cannot be turned in or counted until the initial first payment has been made.

Three cars left headquarters early this morning to canvass some of the surrounding towns in the Rock County banking district, and it is expected to have a large number of cars on hand tomorrow and Thursday to take the campaign workers into the towns of Centre, Janesville, La Prairie and Johnston.

With only $100,000 left to subscribe Janesville should again make a wonderful showing in the present campaign. The record in over-subscription made by this city in the Third campaign was an entire one and should be bettered this time.

People are urged not to let the talk of an early peace with Germany effect their buying. The government needs the money and Rock County worse than they ever did. The Fourth Liberty Loan must be a huge success and unless every citizen, not only of Janesville, but of the United States buys a bond, it will be a failure.

Janesville bond buyers have demonstrated their desire to assist the government in this time of need. The city is going to establish a record in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign that will be the envy of every county in the State of Wisconsin.

Every city in the county is making an excellent showing and when the final figures are tabulated it will show that Rock county has made the largest showing in the county. Edgerton, Beloit, and all of the other cities in Rock county are going over the top in splendid style and making a record that will be hard to beat.

At the request of the National Council of Defense we direct you to give valuable assistance to the United States Forest Service in a line of work which has become an extremely urgent one.

You are requested to communicate any information you may have to your local Council of Defense regarding the location of timber essential to war purposes.

Many kinds of timber grow in scattered fashion and can be located by wide spread organization.

Walnut is essential for propellers, ship building and wheelbarrows and saddles. Oak and Rock Elm for aeroplanes. Black locust for tree nails in ship construction. Rock County Council of Defense.

HOLD MAN CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO STORE

Fond du Lac, Oct. 15.—Alva Smith is being detained at Sheboygan pending an investigation into the recent fire which destroyed the Standard Bros. general store at Greenbush, with a loss of $20,000, and now believed incendiary origin.

A postal inspector traced the letters to Smith, who said to have admitted to the letters to cover an embezzlement of $290.

One letter threatened the destruction of the store by fire.

War at a Glance
SAVAGE ATTACK.—Savagely attacking the German line in Belgium, British, French and Belgian forces have captured Roulers and carried their line far toward Courtray and Theocourt. In reports from the front there are indications the German line has been pierced and the enemy is retreating. On the other hand, the troops of the battle line American troops have carried their line well past the Kriemhilde positions west of the Meuse river. They are now holding the front line runs from north of Cuiel, north of Romagny and thence northwesterly to the vicinity of St. Georges at which village it turns to the south and meets the French line at Grandprey.

French and Italian forces are slowly sweeping the Germans back out of the Laon salient. They are now well on the east of the Laon-LaFere railroad and have kept up steady pressure against the enemy along the Oise valley northeast of LaFere. The Allied line in Belgium appears to be holding which may direct bearing on the course of the mighty battle that is raging over the battle line from Dixmude to Verdun.

The previous American altitude record of the German army, made against the German line on the first day of the offensive seems to indicate it is possible for the allies to press eastward and outflank both the German submarine bases in the north and the whole German line to the south.

ENDANGER SUB BASE.—A glance at the map shows that the railroads of the German army are in great danger as the allied advance carries the line nearer and nearer to Ghent. It is rumored along the British front in Belgium that the British command has entered Ostend and this report is unconfirmed.

Should it prove true, however, it is possible forces may be landed in the line of the German army still holding the line between Theocourt and the sea. South of the new break in the German line the Germans have been in a serious position for some time. The line is endangered from the south and this new attack threatens to outflank the city from the north. Should this occur Lille will probably fall and with all that Douai is certain to be involved.

MAY DELAY ADVANCE.—There appears to be every reason to believe that the Germans along the Belgian front are making a last ditch effort to delay the advance long enough to permit the forces in the big Laon salient to be reinforced. All reports of the fighting in this region however agree the German losses in material and munition are heavy. The success of the Americans in the east of the Argonne is so important to the future development of the German defensive measures that it may be expected the enemy will strive by all means to hold back the Americans.

E. Josephine Fitzgerald will start her classes in Physical and Interpretative Training at the Cadogan home Tuesday, October 29th, 4 o'clock.

FAILS IN EXAMINATION
PEEVED AT LAW BOARD

Chicago, Oct. 15.—(Special.) James E. He filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus and a writ of certiorari, directed against the Illinois board of examiners, demanding that he be issued a license.

He asked Judge Landis for a subpoena to be served upon Albert Watson, president of the board of law examiners, to produce his last examination papers. He asked the court to warrant the issuance to him of a law license.

MUCH DAMAGE BY FIRE IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—Three firemen were injured and a loss estimated at $1,000,000 was sustained in a fire which threatened for a time last night to wipe out the block bounded by Broadway and Mason streets and East Water and Wisconsin streets.

The heaviest loss by the fire was the M. H. Mann and company, who owned the block bounded by Broadway, which sustained a loss estimated at $150,000 to the stock, they having placed in the building their entire stock of goods.

The building, which is owned by the Munroe estate, was valued at $100,000 and it is a total loss. The Sentinel company is the next largest sufferer from the fire and for a time it was feared that the entire building would be burned to the ground. Because of the preproof construction of the building, however, the flames, which were shooting into the windows of the eighth and ninth floors of the building, failed to gain headway.

Despite this, offices on the south end of the Sentinel building were practically burned out, the flames fanned by a southwest wind, shooting in through the windows and the street level furniture in all of these offices.

That the entire block was not destroyed, by the fire was due to the fact that the buildings, which were occupied by the Kurver Polski Publishing company, and the Gayhart-Price company, with double fire walls saved the Kurver Polski building from going up in flames, their plant was put out of business and the employees of the danger. Most of the employees of this company fled from the building without stopping to put on their hats and coats, and the result was a cold and some panic stricken because of the flames and the heat from the adjoining structure.

That there was no one killed was considered remarkable by Fire Chief Thomas Clancy, for there were two explosions which blew out almost the entire front of the building.

BRIDE of BATTLE

A Romance of the American Army Fighting on the Battlefields of France.

by VICTOR ROUSSEAU

CHAPTER XVII.

Hartley sat up on the stretcher and fixed his eyes on Howard's face. It was evident that he was desperately wounded. One of the orderlies knelt beside him and held him.

"This man," said the General, chewing at his mustache in emotion which he could not altogether hide, "was once an officer in the service of our country. He was engaged in confidential work in the war department. He was accused of espionage—unjustly accused."

With a low cry Eleanor rushed forward and knelt beside the stricken man; she placed her arms about him and drew his head down upon her shoulder, looking pitifully into the weary eyes. Hampton raised her hand to his lips and kissed it.

"Unjustly accused," repeated the General. "Major Kellerman, stand to attention, sir! You shall be heard later. He was the victim of the System, which was even then laying its plans in Washington. He was the victim of a woman named Morshelm—Hilda Morshelm, whose activities were well known, though we could then do nothing to counteract them. She made a specialty of luring young officers into gambling dens, winning large sums from them, and thus leading them down the slope toward disgrace and death."

"She had a confederate who was highly placed in the war department. When by their united efforts, they failed to make a traitor of Captain Hampton, they compassed his ruin. How they did so I need not describe now. The facts are of record; it is enough to say that they succeeded. Hampton was driven into exile; but they were not satisfied with that. They broke his career, they drove him from the company of all decent men. But that was not enough. They broke his wife's heart; she died. They made his name one of execration. Still they were not satisfied. With devilish ingenuity they sought to cover their tracks by making it appear that Hampton was still carrying on his trade, still selling government secrets. You see why, Colonel?" he continued, turning to Howard. "Because they themselves were continuing their vile work, and the new leakages had to be accounted for."

Kellerman, ghastly white, leaned against the brick wall; he was fumbling nervously in his tunic pocket.

"I suppose, sir, that you are accusing," he began.

"Be silent, sir! Gentlemen," he continued, addressing Mark and the Colonel. "You are interested in knowing what happened to this man Hampton. He could not rid himself of the belief that justice, though slow, is pretty sure. He had faith in God. Unfortunately he had less faith in himself. Am I wronging you, Hampton?" he continued, addressing Hartley.

"No, sir," muttered the man on the stretcher, feebly.

"He wishes me to tell the whole story. He went to Cuba and hung in his lot with the rebels. He became disgusted with their means and methods, obtained a pardon from General Weyler, and took up his residence in Santiago. The outbreak of the war surprised him there. He knew that Santiago would fall, and he had been warned that he would receive short shrift at the hands of our people."

"He longed for death, but he had two things that kept alive the desire for life. One was his child, the other the desire for vindication, which had become a monomania. He tried to escape into the jungle. He saw that it was hopeless."

"He was hiding in a little hut when he heard footsteps. An American soldier, who had strayed from his company, was coming into the clearing. At that moment a stray bullet caught him in the head, killing him instantly. Hampton saw his chance. He took off the dead man's clothing and put it on; he dressed the body in his own. He knew that by this means he could pass through the lines in the guise of a wounded man, until he had a chance to get rid of his uniform in the cabin of some Cuban, who would be only too well pleased to give him some rags in exchange for it. And, leaving his money and papers on the dead man, he knew that he left his identity behind, for the bullet had destroyed the features."

"There was the child—but Hampton knew that he could take her no further. With the Americans she would receive food—which he had not—and shelter and protection. Afterward he would regain her. He lurked in the bushes until he saw Captain Wallace appear, watched him, trusted him, and went away."

"He learned of the child's adoption, and for years he haunted her home, her school, all places that were her residence, ever craving her, ever restrained by the realization that, till his name was cleared, he had no right to her. His idea of vindication had become, as I said, a monomania."

"Now, gentlemen, I have little time to spare, but I must carry this story to the end. I said that he had less faith in himself than he had in God. Once, for three years, Hampton lost his child. She had gone to San Francisco. In his despair he went to Washington, he sought out Hilda Morshelm, who was still playing her trade, and begged, as he had never begged anyone, that she would vindicate his name."

"There was a stillness as of utter death inside the little cave."

"She saw in him one of those useful spies such as her organization used, broken men with inside knowledge of conditions. She used him, held out promises, broke them; in his despair he made himself a slave to her and—her confederate, forgetting his manhood and what he had been. Time and again they broke faith with him. He had just realized that he had nothing to hope for from them when Captain Wallace appeared on the scene."

"Yes, he was a rotten dog, sir," said Kellerman, with the ghost of a smile. "Is it on such evidence that you presume?"

"No, sir, it is not," thundered the General. "It is on the evidence of the woman Hilda Morshelm, alias Kenson, secured by Hampton under circumstances which—"

Kellerman uttered a low cry; he was trembling now, and all his bravado seemed to have oozed away.

"This woman, strangely enough, loved her confederate," went on the General remorselessly, fixing his eyes full on Kellerman's now, while Kellerman blinked like a bat in daylight, and turned his head weakly from side to side, as if under the intolerable glare of a searchlight. "Her claims on him were strong enough, God knows! She wanted him to marry her, to take her away from the old scenes that they might have a chance to redeem their wretched lives together. He had promised her that so many times—and the worst of women is as wax in the hands of the man she loves."

"But he had become infatuated with another, with a girl as much above him as—"

With a cry that seemed hardly human Colonel Howard sprang toward Kellerman, his fingers twitching as if he sought to fasten them about his throat. Mark caught him and held him, while the old man swayed to and fro, his outstretched arm extended toward Kellerman as if in imprecation.

"The General approached and clasped him on the shoulder. 'Captain Wallace,' he said, 'your written resignation from the United States army cannot be accepted, owing to the state of war. After the war it will receive consideration. In the meantime you will resume your duties on the headquarters staff.'"

Tears rushed to Mark's eyes. He tried to speak, he was conscious that the General and Howard were shaking him by the hand; and then a quick glance from Eleanor drew him to where she knelt by Hartley.

A single look showed him that the man was dying.

"You are under arrest," cut her to the heart, shown her the hopelessness of her dreams, and taught her that the one man in whom she had believed was worthless clay. To do her justice, let us suppose that, even in her worst acts, she had been sustained by a sense of duty to her country."

"She met her confederate in an inn at a village not far distant. Frantic at her appearance, he induced her to let him drive her back through the lines, and on the way renewed his lying promises. This time she doubted him."

"Two men had overheard their conversation. One was Captain Wallace, whom the pair had broken as they broke poor Hampton. Him the traitor had seen, and he devised a scheme to send him to the trenches and contrive to have him sent on a false and fatal errand. With that point I shall not now deal. The other man was Hampton, who had enlisted under an alias, in the belief that he would obtain a clue that would unmask the traitor, he contrived to go back through the lines, found the woman, and somehow—perhaps by God's wonderful mercy—obtained her signed confession—which I have here, in full."

He wheeled upon Kellerman. "Major Kellerman," he said in a deep voice that vibrated almost with pity, so charged with significance that its meaning could not escape either Howard or Mark, "you are under arrest. You will go toward your quarters, first removing your belt and arms."

Kellerman saluted weakly and stumbled out of the cave. The General looked at Mark.

"The soldier Weston receives a free and full pardon for his valor in the field this day," he said. "He is also discharged honorably from the service of the United States government."

Mark looked at the general in astonishment; this was the last thing that he desired.

Mark knelt on one side of him, with Eleanor facing him over the stretcher. The bearers, who had fallen back, stood still as images behind. And behind them Mark had the dim consciousness in the background of his mind of Kellerman, broken as he had broken so many, and fumbling, always fumbling, now with his tunic, now with the belt that he was trying to detach with shaking fingers.

"Hartley!" whispered Mark, holding the dying man's hand in his. "That was you today—I missed you, but I believed in you. You saved me."

There was a fluttering pressure of Mark's hand in turn. Hampton was speaking; he was asking for the Colonel.

"I am here, Hampton," said Colonel Howard in a choked voice, as he leaned over him.

AMERICAN MEN AND WOMEN IN FIGHTING TRIM

They Keep To The Top Notch of Health

The spirit of the times demands perfect health and nerves, and keeps them up to the highest degree of efficiency.

Wise men and women have learned that it does not pay to allow health or nerves to run down and are quick to take advantage of Nature's greatest red blood and nerve tonic, Phosphated Iron, the minute they feel they are slowing up.

Whatever your work may be there is no reason why it should continue to tire you; work should only use the right amount of your energy. It is trying to work on your nerves and forcing yourself that wastes your strength, runs you down, gives you those restless nights, loss of appetite and indigestion, when you get up in the morning as tired as when you went to bed.

There is no sense in anyone being a victim of ill health, poor blood, over work, nerves and the blues when Phosphated Iron will afford such prompt and permanent relief.

All over the country men and women in every walk of life lay their health, strength and nerves to the use of Phosphated Iron, the red blood and nerve builder, and it will put you on your feet, make you feel like a new man, produce results that last, that's what counts, no "ifs" about it.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules, pills, and in tablets, in capsules, in capsules.

NEW RESOLUTION
FINDS LITTLE FAVOR

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Oct. 14.—The proposal advanced by the Pacific Coast Association of the Amateur Athletic Union to bar all foreign athletes from future competition in national championships meets finds little favor among eastern athletic authorities and followers of track and field sports. The consensus of opinion indicates that it would be a serious blow to the American athletic organization to take, as athletes from the states have for years been the most consistent traveling competitors and prize winners.

It was pointed out by a prominent A. A. U. authority that there might be some reason for such a proposal on the part of the American Union, in view of the fact that in past years strong teams from the New York A. C. and the Irish American A. C. have journeyed to Canada and swept every first prize and won the annual Dominion Championships. American athletes also have been prominent winners of titular track and field honors in situations in England, Sweden, Finland and other European countries. In every case our athletes have been welcomed and where they were good enough to defeat the best of the home team, there was nothing but praise for their performances. The measure of the foreign athletic invader in furtherance of little danger. They have been able in the past to show their heels to the best of the American stars, as the record of both home championships and Olympic games clearly demonstrates. It would undoubtedly be an impetus to greater and better effort if a few invading performers could be found to show the way to our stars. It is true, however, that after the war there will be a great revival of international sport competition. With this thought in mind, the delegates who gather for the annual meeting of the A. A. U. at Philadelphia on Nov. 18, there appears little possibility of the adoption of the proposed resolution.

PRIVATE HUGH MILLER,
FORMER BASEBALL STAR,
WOUNDED THREE TIMES

(By International News.)
Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Private Hugh Miller, who forsook baseball to take his place on the firing line with the United States Marines, has figured in the dispatches from France three times in four months. The first time his name appeared in the marine corps casualty list as being severely wounded. Miller, who was first baseman for the Philadelphia Nationals, was in the line with the United States Marines in June, 1917. A year later, at Belleau Wood, he went into action and immediately distinguished himself. Miller was ill and weak when the attack at Belleau Wood came. He was ordered to the rear three times by his superior officer, and obeyed three times—returning to action each time in spite of his weakened condition. More than that he captured, single-handed, two of the enemy and fought so well throughout the engagement that he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by General Pershing. After Belleau Wood Miller went into action again—evidently during the counter-attack of the Marines in conjunction with the allies at Tigny and Vlerzy—for on Aug. 8 a cablegram from abroad named him as being wounded in action, degree undetermined. Miller's wounds must have healed quickly, for on Sept. 10 he was again fighting with the Marines. This time, according to the cablegrams, he was wounded severely. Miller is a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, No. 5317 Cote Brilliant, Ct. South, Mo.

American sports are serving a double purpose among French soldiers, writes E. A. Hatcher, former sport writer now with the Y. M. C. A. in France. Hatcher says: "Primarily introduced for the amusement of the poilus, the Yankee games have resulted in improving the performance of the men in purely military duties. Naturally the Y. M. C. A. Payer du Soldat, which has charge of this work, is feeling proud. "As the result of playing basketball, the soldiers at a camp where J. A. Nelson represents the Red Triangles athletic department, are throwing hand grenades forty meters instead of the previous thirty that prevailed before the Yankee national game was introduced. "An increase of ten meters in the range of a grenade is a deadly millie means more 'good boches,' because as the platoon is to say about the Indians, the Frenchman says the only good German is dead. "The men, in addition to throwing farther, are also throwing more accurately. Some of them were many feet off the target before they were introduced to basketball. Now they are getting their aim down so put that they are landing on their objectives a good part of the time. "In addition to basketball, basketball, volleyball, association football, croquet and tennis are flourishing. The French fighters are taking such interest in these sports that they are doing more and more of them than can be accommodated with the facilities at hand. Only when the day's artillery program has been of such an exhausting character that they have taken all the men's 'pep' is there any lack of attendance on the playground."

Jack Root, considered light heavyweight champion in his day, has joined the ranks of ring stars who are now athletic instructors at the service camps.

Root has been assigned to Camp Arcadia, on the site of Lucky Baldwin's famous Santa Anna track in southern California. Root had one of the most formidable records of any man in the prize ring. He took the measure of some of the best middleweights, including Kid McCoy. Root beat McCoy in a ten-round fight on April 22, 1909. Others in that class who had to take second money to Root were Australian Jimmy Ryan, Dick O'Brien, John Wille, George Gardner, Kid Carter, Jim Flynn, Dan Creedon, Tommy West, Frank Craig, Alec Greig, Billy Stitt, George Byers, and about a dozen others. Root is 42 years old. He made Chicago his home when in the boxing game, and made his last public appearance with big Fred Russell at Kalamazoo, Mich., beating the latter in ten rounds, Feb. 23, 1906.

The "Bayonet" publication issued by the soldier boys at Camp Arcadia, in the first issue of the first American drive, describing it entirely in baseball. "The first American drive was like going to first base," it said. "It was taken by the first American drive, standing up. The delivery was too fast for the Huns, and there was no possibility of a bean ball. Although it was like trying to hit a pitcher, they showed promise and are backed by any number of veterans to take up the work if any wavering symptoms should show. On the left side of the line, the Huns were used, and there will be some slugging before the game gets much older. From the way the batteries are going it looks as if the Huns side will be retired on strikes."

The last official conference on National league rules and regulations, such as the national conditions governing a revival of the league activities will be the annual meeting at New York on Dec. 10. At that time the close of the baseball season, as far as the major league is concerned, will remain suspended.

NEW RULES ISSUED FOR PUBLIC EATING PLACES

Madison, Oct. 14.—Effective October 15, a new program has been announced for public eating places by the U. S. Food Administration, according to the rules received today by Magnus Swenson, Food Administrator for Wisconsin. A direct reduction in the consumption of foodstuffs is being urged upon certain commodities such as wheat and meat form the basis of the new rules. Failure to conform to them will be regarded as a wasteful practice and subject to penalty. "No bread or other bakery product which does not contain at least 50 per cent of substitutes may be sold, and no more than two ounces of Victory bread or four ounces of other breads such as muffins or corn bread shall be granted to and served as a garniture or under meat. At one meal, a patron must not have more than one kind of meat, that is, beef, mutton, pork, poultry, or any by-products thereof. Bacon will not be permitted as a garniture. Not more than one-half ounce of butter and one-half ounce of margarine may be served to individual. "Double" cream is banned. The sugar bowl is abolished, guests may have one teaspoonful per meal, and only 30 pounds will be permitted for every 30 meals, including all uses on the table and in cooking, except to the hotels holding bakery license. No waste food may be used, but must be saved to feed animals or reduced to obtain fats.

EXPLAINED HOW NEW RECORD WAS ESTABLISHED

Washington, Oct. 15.—A driver for a ship building plant is like a drive of the Yankees against the Hun lines in France. Both demand intensive preparation. Pershing's command, the front and John Wolf, builder of ships in the Hog Island yard are using the same methods. That is how Wolf, the world's champion riveter, set a new record with his gang and drove 195,242 rivets in eight hours at the Hog Island yard on Friday, Sept. 13, off said. "Before the American troops over yonder make a drive on the Hun they make careful preparations. They are in advance. I follow the same principle in getting ready for a riveting drive. Riveters were as scarce as monkey wrenches in a parlor when Uncle Sam sent the Hun to the shipyard game. We've had to make 'em, that's all. Every one of my forty-three gangs of riveters were as green as grass when only short time ago I got 'em from the Training School which has been established in the yard by the Industrial Relations Group, of the United States Shipping Board's Emergency Fleet Corporation. I have worked like a coal heaver whipping this raw material into shape, and I want to say right now there are no better working buddies in the world. Any time of the day or night I'll stack my hunkies against the cream of the famous Scottish yards on the Clyde."

Wild Man Story
